Summary of reasons for classification:

The publication entitled Return To House On Haunted Hill is classified as: Objectionable except if the availability of the publication is restricted to persons who have attained the age of 16 years.

The publication is a Blu-ray disc containing the director's cut of a feature previously classified as objectionable except if the availability of the publication is restricted to persons who have attained the age of 16 years, with the descriptive note "Violence, horror, sex scenes and offensive language" (see OFLC No. 702291). The decision was registered on 28 September 2007.

The disc also contains a second, un-timed interactive "pick-a-path" version of the feature ("Navigational Cinema"). This version has been put together specifically for next-generation, high definition players such as the Blu-ray and HD-DVD formats. At precisely seven points during the feature the viewer can select from one of two options. The viewer's decision making has direct implications for how the feature plays out, such as which character dies, and when.

The extra components on the disc, including deleted scenes and a music video, are the same as those that appeared on the original DVD. The additional material accessible through the interactive version of the feature is of the same nature, and pitched at the same level, as the original version. There are no grounds to revisit the original classification on the basis of this extra content.
